CLIENT DISCLOSURE AND OFFICE POLICY STATEMENT

My Experience and License

You have the right to choose a therapist who best suits your needs and goals towards treatment. With that in mind, the following disclosure information is provided for you. This agreement tells you your rights and responsibilities as a client, what to expect and what I should expect from you. Please read it carefully and be sure to ask questions if there's anything you don't understand or that you have concerns about.

Professional Qualifications/Education

- Licensed Mental Health Counselor (LMHC), Washington 2011: License # LH 60034726.
- Child Mental Health Specialist (CMHS).
- M.A., Psychology, Antioch University, Seattle, WA, 2006.
- B.A., Psychology, Central Washington University, Ellensburg, WA, 2002.

Therapeutic Orientation

My approach to counseling varies with each client I work with. Upon my initial intake with a client I can then determine the best choice of practice, depending on my client's needs. My orientation tends to be of a person-centered, humanistic approach. I've had training in cognitive behavioral therapy and use this along with solution focused therapy in my work with many clients. I find being eclectic with my practice interventions can be useful. I've had over 8 years of experience working with children, adolescents, adults and their families, who are survivors of neglect and abuse, behavioral issues and a variety of other mental health illnesses. In working with children and adolescents, I believe it's mandatory to have parent involvement in the treatment process. I believe the family system and its complicated dynamics can have a big impact on a child's mental health.

In the State of Washington, all clients age 13 and older are legally required to sign a release of information in order for mental health information to be shared.

There are some exceptions to confidentiality. State law requires that professional counselors must respond protectively by notifying the appropriate authorities if we are informed of the physical or sexual abuse of a child, a disabled person, or an elderly adult. State law requires me to report knowledge of a client's serious threat or intent to harm self or others, or inability to care for oneself. In instances where I am required to take such action, I also want to carry out this responsibility in a way that promotes the best counseling or therapy for my client's individual needs.

The rules of confidentiality can on rare occasions create dilemmas. For instance, say that perhaps during therapy you tell me you have a new friend, or romantic partner or boss, and it turns out that some years ago that person was a client of mine. Despite my desire to be open with you, I can't tell you that I know him or her, because I would be breaking the confidentiality of my work with that person.

If you have any questions about confidentiality, please discuss them with me.

Professional Practice and Orientation

Based on your needs, our work can be focused in one of three ways:

Emmaus Counseling Center
8290 165th Ave. NE, Redmond, WA 98052
425.869.2644, ext. 11
Updated: 8/21/2018

- Consulting involves a brief exploration (sometimes only a few sessions) of a specific concern or crisis. My aim is to help you mobilize your thinking and develop strategies for action about the matter in question.
- Counseling is a more extended exploration of a particular problem, because some problems require more attention and more time for resolution. Career changes or relationship concerns could apply in this context.
- Psychotherapy involves a close attention to personal experience. In this mode of work, we try to discover the patterns and periods in one's development that have been formative in impacting the current barriers to a fully vital, productive, and satisfying life. Psychotherapy offers an opportunity to reflect safely upon, understand, and integrate problems of fear, doubt, immobility, shame, and confusion. More profound experiences of depression, anxiety, trauma, and developmental privations can be thoroughly addressed and resolved.

Depending on your needs and the problems you want to work on, my therapeutic approach may include elements of Psychodynamic, Cognitive Behavioral, Family Systems, and/or Developmental Theory. In addition, Sensorimotor Psychotherapy is a modality that I have found extremely useful in treating unresolved trauma as well as dysfunctional relational patterns. I believe that the families and environments we grow up in have a formative impact on one's sense of self, powerfully influencing the way we think about ourselves as well as the way we relate to others. When appropriate, it can be helpful to explore the impact of family relationships on the problems that clients bring to counseling or therapy. In addition, I have a strong bias towards including significant family members in at least some aspects of therapy when working with children or adolescents. Depending on the client's age, this may require a Release of Information form to be signed.

I encourage you to ask me questions about my orientation and approach to counseling and therapy.

Client Rights

Clients have the right to request a change in counseling approach, referral to another counselor, or termination of therapy at any time. If you have concerns about the course of treatment, please discuss them with me. Should you feel that I have been unethical or unprofessional, you may contact the Department of Licensing.

Appointments

Individual appointments are typically 50 minutes in length. It is important to be on time to your appointment as the time will not be extended beyond the scheduled time because of your late arrival. Your appointment is held exclusively for you. If you are unable to keep your appointment for any reason, you must give me at least 24 hours advance notice, otherwise you will be charged an $80 missed session fee for the time I have reserved for you. Insurance cannot be billed for missed sessions. Exceptions in the event of an emergency or unavoidable circumstance will be discussed.

Fees and Payments

I am a provider on some, but not all insurance panels. If you are planning on using your insurance for mental health services, please verify that I am contracted with your plan prior to the first visit. Emmaus Counseling Center's billing staff will submit claims to your insurance company following each office visit. My rate for those paying full fee (i.e., no mental health insurance coverage) is currently $150 for the initial assessment and $130 for each 50-minute session thereafter.

Crisis and Emergencies

My voicemail will take your calls any time, but I do not carry a beeper and may need up to a day to respond. If you need assistance before I can be reached, you can call the 24-hour King County Crisis Clinic at 206-461-3222. If it is an emergency, please call 9-1-1.

Confidentiality

In general, whatever is said during your sessions with me is held in strict confidentiality, meaning I will not discuss you or our work with anyone else except in my own strictly confidential professional consultation, unless you sign a release of information form allowing me to discuss our work with another person (e.g., your physician, school counselor, previous therapist), or unless a judge orders me to release my records to the court and/or testify. In the State of Washington, all clients age 13 and older are legally required to sign a release of information for mental health information to be shared. This means parents do not have the right to access the minor's counseling records or conversations between therapist and child unless I have written authorization from the minor.

Exceptions to this right of confidentiality, which are protected by state law, are: when there has been physical or sexual abuse or neglect of a child, disabled person, or elderly adult; serious threat or intent to harm oneself and/or others; inability to care for oneself. In all of these situations I am required by law to take necessary steps to secure your safety and/or the safety of others, however, I want to carry out that responsibility in a way that promotes the best counseling or therapy for my client's individual needs. If you have any questions about confidentiality, please discuss them with me.

Court Testimony and Legal Involvement

In order to avoid dual relationships and conflicts of interest, I will provide you or your child with clinical services only. I do not intend to become involved in legal disputes such as personal injury lawsuits, divorce proceedings, dependency hearings or custody battles. These proceedings erode the client-therapist relationship and compromise you or your child's ability to be honest with me during treatment. In addition, I do not participate in evaluation for adoption homes studies or provide evaluations of parental fitness to adoption agencies or Sate entities. By signing this document, you agree:

- That my role is limited to providing treatment and that you will not involve me in any legal dispute;
- That you will instruct your attorneys not to subpoena me or refer in any court fillings anything I have said or done;
- That you will not ask for my participation or recommendations in an adoption home study or dependency hearing;
- If there is a court-appointed evaluator in your child's custody or dependency dispute, and if appropriate releases are signed and a court order is provided, I will provide general information about the child which will not include recommendations concerning custody, custody arrangements, or visitations;
- If, for any reason, I am required to provide expert testimony or documentation for a legal dispute, adoption proceeding or dependency case, or to appear as a witness, the party responsible for my participation agrees to reimburse me at the rate of $150 per hour (even in the case of sliding-scale fee clients) for time spent traveling, preparing reports, testifying, being in attendance, and any other case related costs.

Professional Consultation

In order to provide the best service possible, I may seek professional consultation on the dynamics and process of your case. If I discuss your situation, I will not use information that would identify you personally.

Communication

E-mails, cell-phones, computers and faxes are not private. No form of client communication is 100% guaranteed to be private. Conversations can be overheard, e-mails and faxes can be sent to the wrong recipients and phone conversations can be listened to by others. Although they add convenience and expedite communication, it is very important to be aware that computers, e-mail and cell phone communication can be accessed relatively easily by unauthorized people and hence can compromise privacy and confidentiality. If you choose to communicate with me by email, be aware that all e-mails are retained in the logs of your and my internet service providers. While it is unlikely that someone will be looking at these logs, they are, in theory, available to be read by the system administrators of the internet service providers. You should also know that any e-mails I receive from you and any responses that I send to you may become a part of your legal record and may be revealed in cases where your records are summoned by a legal entity. To protect your confidentiality to the best of my ability, my computer is equipped with a firewall, virus protection and passwords and my cell phone is equipped with virus protection and passwords.

Social Media Policies

Per industry standards, my personal social media presence and professional social media presence are separate (ACA code section H.6) and it is not appropriate for me to engage in virtual relationships with my clients (ACA Code A.5.e; NBCC Code section 19). I do not accept friend or contact requests from current or former clients on any social networking site. Please do not use messaging on social networking sites to contact me. Do not use wall postings, @replies, or other means of engaging with me in public online if we have already established a client/therapist relationship. Engaging with me in this way could compromise your confidentiality and it may also create the possibility that these exchanges become a part of your legal medical record and will need to be documented and archived in your chart.

Location-Based Services Reveal Your Location:

If you use location-based services on your mobile phone, you may wish to be aware of the privacy issues related to using these services. If you have GPS tracking enabled on your device, it is possible that others may surmise that you are a therapy client due to regular check-ins at my office on a regular basis.

State of Washington Disclosures

The State of Washington requires that I provide you with the following information.

You have the right both to receive appropriate care and treatment, and to refuse any treatment you do not want. You have the right to choose a Counselor who best suits your needs and purposes. Counselors practicing counseling for a fee must be registered or licensed with the Department of Licensing for the protection of public health and safety. Credentialing of an individual with the Department of Health does not include a recognition of any practice standards, nor necessarily imply the effectiveness of any treatment.
